How many people are you inviting?

Looking at the list of starters, mains, and desserts, pick one of each and write it below.

If you look at the recipes they don't all serve the same number of people, so you will have to adjust them for the number of people you are having.

For example, if you are having 8 and a recipe serves 4, you will have to double it.

For each of your courses, work out how much of each ingredient you need and write it down on the "Shopping List". For now, don't worry about the two price columns.
