

Buying Train Tickets

Lewis lives in Shoreham and has to take the train to work at Brighton High everyday.

There are many different options when buying a ticket:

- 1 Day Return: £4.90
- 1 Week Pass: £18.40
- 1 Month Pass: £70.80
- 1 Year Pass: £737

A weekly pass is valid for one week from the day you buy it. So if you buy it on Tuesday you can keep using it till the next Monday. You can start it any day of the week.

A one month pass is valid for one month from the day you buy it. If you buy it on the 21st of January then you can use it till the 20th of February. You can start it any day of the month.

A one year pass is valid for a full year. If you buy it on 1 January then it is valid till 31 December. You can start it any day of the year.

Lewis wants to know what the cheapest way of buying train tickets for him will be. Normally it would be the yearly pass but because he is only working at school 195 days a year there may be a cheaper way by using a combination of daily, weekly, and monthly passes.

Use the calendar provided (on days that are shaded or have XXX in he does not need a train ticket), to investigate cheaper alternatives for Lewis.
